

Mr. Bryant,

I had contacted you in mid summer 2009 about an incident which occurred in Georgia. I live out of state and was unable to break free from my business for several days to attend court, and nearly impossible for me to perform any type of community service in Georgia.

I contacted you at the last minute and we made an agreement over the phone with no promises and most importantly you would attend court in my place. You were able to strike a deal with the court which I felt was considerably in my favor.

The entire process took several months to put closure on, however your professionalism and taking the time to listen was very important not to mention your promptness on returning calls.

I must say you were a blessing throughout this process and I would very highly recommend you to anyone in need of a professional such as yourself.

Sincerely,

Michael B.

*This out-of-state client had been charged with Possession of Marijuana while driving through the State of Georgia. Based upon a legal analysis of the reason he was stopped by a Gwinnett County police officer, and what took place during the stop, Mr. Bryant was able to persuade the prosecutor to accept the client's attendance and completion of a brief alcohol/drug counseling program in exchange for a first offender dismissal of the charge. Final Result - Client was able to avoid having to appear in court with no fine, no community service, no conviction and no license suspension.
