

Russell,

I really don't know how to express my deepest gratitude for all you've done for me. My life has changed so much since I first stepped into your office a year ago. I feel like it was only yesterday that my life was on a downward spiral and I was out of control. Believe it or not you made me feel like you could help me and get my life back on track. I truly trusted you and at the time I didn't trust anyone. When I was referred to you I didn't know what to expect. You always smiled and stayed positive. You always said I could do it. I am honored to know you.

Regards,
Ron

*E-mail from a 2009 divorce client who had been married for > 20 years. His wife filed divorce action for alimony, property division, custody of minor child and attorney's fees. Result - client now divorced with full custody of his daughter, no alimony obligation, reasonable property division, and no obligation to pay ex-wife's attorney fees.